FRIDAY EVENING, AUGUST 4

A BEAUTIFUL DEMON .- [From the New Orleans Picayune.]—In going through the parish prison a few days since, the attention of the reporter was attracted to a young girl, apparently not more than fifteen years of age. She had fair nut-brown hair, and a complexion fresh and white as milk. The mild blue eyes were singularly soft and intelligent, and her whole appearance indicated the free, joyous characteristics of youth and happiness. Yet this amiable looking creature, this fair, delicate Minerva, of slender form and ingenuous face, is said to be a devil incarnate. She was not a is said to be a devil incarnate. She was not a prisoner, only a visitor to the institution, and when the reporter saw her she was conversing with a noted burglar; indeed she says she is a cousin of Pete Munday's, and goes under the sobriquet of Lily. She is a most as fair and delicate as one.

Her career is a remarkable series of adventures and hair-breadth escapes. About a year ago she lived in San Antonio, Texas, and for some real or fancied misconduct received a severe castigation at the hands of the man with whom she was living.

Burning with resentment, and conscious of her inability to cope with him in physical strength, she waited until the next night, when he was asleep, and then locking the doors of the room and closing every avenue of escape, she prepared for a work of horror almost impossible to conceive. On one pretext or another she sent all the inmates of the house away, and procuring paper and other inflammable material, built a funeral pyre around the bed of inflammable material, built a funeral pyre around the bed of its laws who set fire to it. the sleeping man. This done, she set fire to it and, locking the door behind her, fled the house. The man woke up when the house was full of flames, and in escaping from the never recovered from his injuries, and is to-day a hopeless invalid, suffering excruciating torture and continual anguish. His generosity—perhaps his sense of atonement—prevented his prosecuting the girl, and she made her escape to New Orleans. Arriving here she took apparent. his prosecuting the girl, and she made her escape to New Orleans. Arriving here she took apartments on Toulouse street, between took apartments on Toulouse street, between the distance from Alexandria, and about 3 miles from a statement of the street of Rampart and Burgundy, where she still resides. She is yet very young, certainly not more than seventeen at furthest, and her vindictive and savage fury when excited is terror to all her acquaintances.

It is strange that beneath an exterior so fair and beautiful should be concealed the elements of such lawless violence.

23 To the voters of the city and county of Alexandria:—I propose to be a candidate for a seat in the next House of Delegates from the county of Alexandria, should I find it to be the wish of the people that I should represent them. As early as possible after the adjournment of the present Court, I intend to address the citizens of the city and county upon the questions vitally affecting their interests, which will be brought before the next General Assembly.

THE BALTIMORE PARLOR QUEEN. S. B. SEXTON'S

New Patented Self-Feeding Base-Burning PARLOR FIRE PLACE STOVE. Mr. S. B. Sexton is the original inventor of the Illuminating Baltimore Fire Place Heaters. succeeding patents have been improvements, until this last is the superior of them all. It excels all the popular Fire Place Stoves in beauty of finish, tasteful carving, and in heating power. It is the result of twenty-two years' practical experience in inventing and manufacturing Fire Place Stoves, and combines all the improvements of our former Stoves, with addi-tional improvements made this present season.

This Stove is a decided success. Several hundred of them were put up in dwellings during the latter part of the Fall and during the Winter, and we have received many testimonials giving them the highest praise for powerful heating capacity and economy in the consumption of fuel.

THE DINING ROOM QUEEN.—We have added a new Fire Place Stove to our list this season. This Stove is suitable for dining rooms. It is very ornamental and would answer for parlors also. It has the convenience of a large oven, which can be used for warming plates, and heating irons, as well as baking and boiling.

We also manufacture the BALTIMORE

PARLOR HEATERS, which are Top-Feeding and Self-Feeding Stove. They are beautifully finished and of great heating power.
